New-York based vocal artist STAV G fuses Mediterranean and Western musical styles and electro-acoustic production. Enriched by the incorporation of human touch, plants, and her vocal virtuosity, her work utilizes technology to add to her computer-based live set.

The new EP 'Songs From The Aether' is to be released Following her debut album 'STAV'. It's first single 'Leaves' is now available to watch and stream on various platforms.

After being the singer-songwriter and leader of the indie- rock band Malinka and one of the original indie-pop duo Stav & Roni, Stav started working with the musical producer Avi Elbaz in Tel Aviv on a solo album. She now brings her own sound to New York as she collaborates with different artists such as Guitarist Charlie Rauh, tap-percussionist Sandra Kluge, Stage and puppet designer Marte Johanne Ekhougen in venues across the city: Blue Note, The Delancey, Saint Anne's Warehouse, Sunnyside, Bowery Electric, and more.

Growing up in a musical environment, STAV GERMAN knew from a young age she wanted to be a singer and a voice teacher. After concentrating in music during her High School years, she continued on to study at Rimon College of Contemporary Music, where she studied voice pedagogy and performed in multiple ensembles of different genres. Stav went on to study at the Complete Vocal Institute in Denmark, where she graduated as a certified CVT teacher.
